

< Situation1 >

A teacher and student are talking. There is a school trip tomorrow, and the teacher announces that students have to come to school by 8:00am as well as giving more information.

< Situation2 >

A teacher and student are talking. A student performed very poorly on the test and the teacher requested the student to study more as well as finding the student's problem.

< Situation3 >

A teacher and student are talking. A student wants to write his/her name in Kanji and asks the teacher how to write it. The teacher can show them, but it is very difficult.

< Situation4 >

You are talking to your roommate and he is sick. He cannot go to school, so he asks you to write an email to his teacher. The sick person(roommate) also asks you to do more stuff.

< Situation5 >

Two students are talking. One is an exchange student from Japan. The exchange student spoke Japanese to you very quickly, so you ask the student to speak slower/one more time and try to understand what s/he is saying.